

Friday, January 8, 1999

Dear ChrIs,

You've been in the business of lumber and bricks for so long that you may have forgotten what a "house" can mean to a buyer. "House" means individuality....a place to make one's own flint reflects personality, interests and taste. "House" means a place to entertain....a place where friends and family can come and be made welcome....in good times and in bad. House means security....a safe haven no one can take away when you can't work anymore. "House" means an investment.....which can be converted to money in the bank in case of a catastrophe. "House" means accomplishment, self-esteem, joy, and the end of a long wait.

How do you adequately thank someone for providing these things for you. I know I can't. I have dreamed of having my own house....and everything that entails....my entire life, and now thanks to you, I have it.

My "house" is beautiful, hand-made with great care by people who obviously think enough of me to have made it possible for me to have. Thank you from the bottom of my heart for making this day possible. Your "house" is now my home.....

Sincerely,

